DEDICATION

To Elinor - you are a wonderful person - Please stay that
 way. Loads of luck!
 Mona Dickman &

To our producer and director, Mr. William H. Taylor, we dedicate the 1950-51 Orbit with respect and affection. His wise selection of script, careful casting, painstaking supervision of decor and props, patient rehearsals, faithful prompting and wise counseling in planning our entire season has made possible the applause and limelight that we have enjoyed during our entrances and our exits in the drama of Classen High School.

Dear Elinor,
 You are truly
 a wonderful person

Full of wise saws and modern instances, and so he plays his part

DR. J. CHESTER SWANSON

SUPERINTENDENT

Dr. J. Chester Swanson, Superintendent of Public Schools, came to us last year from San Diego, California, where he was Assistant Superintendent. He is not only an administrator, but is extremely interested in the youth of Oklahoma City.

Dr. Swanson is well qualified for his position as he has been a member of the teaching profession since 1926. He has been an administrator in England and the Panama Canal Zone, and has traveled extensively in Central America.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Ira Williams and Mr. C. B. McCray

MR. W. H. TAYLOR
Principal of Classen High School

PRINCIPAL

Mr. Taylor has been the principal and friend of the student body of Classen since 1943. Highly esteemed by both students and faculty as a capable administrator, with a sincere interest in the growth of the school, he has helped bring Classen to the position it now holds as one of the Southwest's outstanding high schools. Under his direction a large new cafeteria, new radio studios and a completely new industrial arts annex have been added to our educational plant this year. Student government has developed under his guidance and has become an integral part of the life at Classen.

VICE-PRINCIPAL

Mr. Lloyd M. Estes, having served as a classroom teacher before becoming vice principal, has a fair and tactful understanding of school problems, from both the teacher's and pupil's point of view. Supervising the Proctor activities, and also the Attendance Department, his disciplinary duties have maintained the best attendance record of any of the city schools. Mr. Estes has lived up to his reputation of being fair and friendly to all.

MR. LLOYD M. ESTES
Vice Principal

OFFICE PERSONNEL

MRS LAURA HALEY MATTHEWS
Secretary and Treasurer

MRS CLARA ALLEY
Registrar

As Secretary to the principal, Mrs. Matthews assists in the details of school routine, prepares bulletins and announcements, and receives visitors.

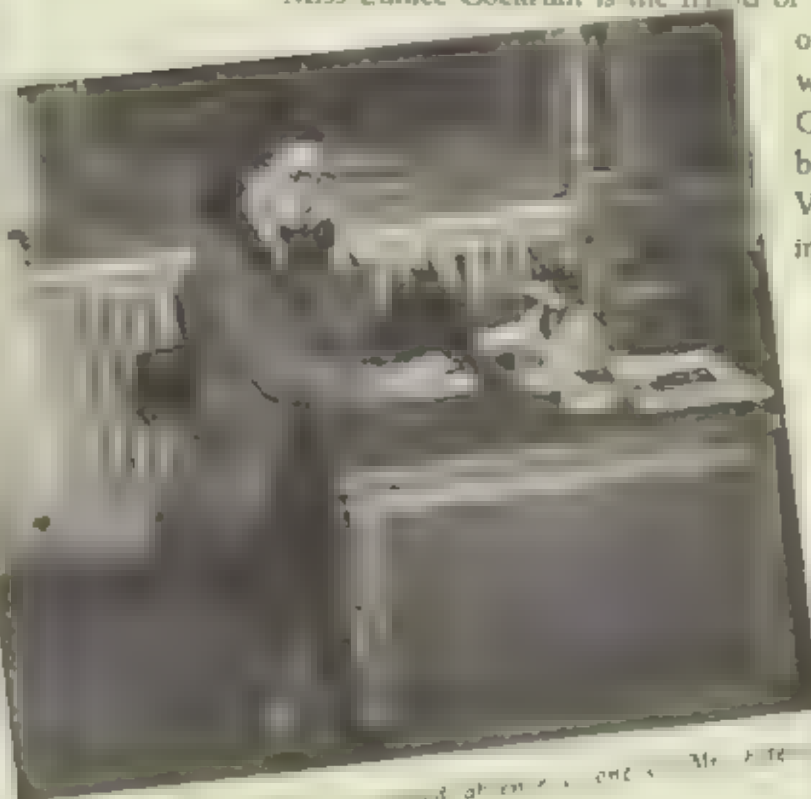

Although this is Mrs. Harris' first year at Classen, she has already made a place for herself as a pleasant and accurate attendance clerk. Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Biswell work hand in hand to keep Classen's attendance record one of the best in the city. From them we soon learn that alibis of dental appointments on Friday afternoons don't always excuse absences, and stories about car trouble don't clear tardies.

Mrs. Alley, Registrar of Classen, helps us with our various problems concerning enrollment. She is also in charge of our scholastic files and transcripts, and supervises college entrance applications.

Miss Eunice Cockrum is the friend of all Classen students. As head of the school library, she is always ready to help a worried Classenite find a last minute book report, a biography of Virgil, or a treatise on the housing conditions in Yugoslavia.

GUIDANCE

MR. GEORGE W. BRUCHER
Head Counselor

The guidance department helps us to know ourselves, and promotes better student-faculty relations. To Duane Weinert, who is in charge of group activities, we owe much of the success of our Student Council which is one of the finest and most active in the Southwest. Mr. George Brucher is the chairman of counselors, dean of boys and is in charge of schedules. Miss Retha Wave Hulet is sponsor of the Sophomore class and dean of girls. Aptitude and other tests are given by Miss Inez Ellis who also handles personal problems and sponsors the correspondence school students.

ENGLISH

Essential in the drama of life were the courses in English which were the foundation for an appreciation of literature, and drama. Also, it was the basis for correct oral and written expressions in our chosen fields

The English department has by far the most important job to perform in teaching the youth of today to make a better world for themselves tomorrow, in further learning to understand not only their own neighbors but their neighbors from foreign lands

Special interests were developed in Journalism, Orbit, Creative writing, English History, Business English and reading courses

Classen boasts a high ranking on the English placement tests at the University of Oklahoma, with eighty-five per cent making above average

SPEECH

Daily announcements and programs over Classen's Central Sound System, participation in the weekly "Youth Speaks" and other radio programs, school plays, and competition afford practical application of speech courses in basic communications, diction, public speaking, debate, interpretation, acting and production and radio.

Classen speech students have brought home many national trophies and the debate teams have an unequalled record in the nation.

MR. GERALD KIDD

MRS. ELAINE TUCKER

MRS. MARIE SWANN

JOURNALISM

The publications of the journalism department have consistently taken top honors in state and national competition including first class newspaper ratings, and All-American yearbook recognition.

The Classen Life, a bi-weekly publication, affords valuable experience to students interested in newspaper work.

Both our annual, the Orbit, and The Classen Life are under the supervision of Mrs. Marian Phillips.

MATHEMATICS

In spite of homework in math, known to most of us as a necessary evil, we recognize the value of these courses. A fundamental essential in a drama of life math proves to be one of the most rewarding classes in highschool. We learn, also that it is used in everyday life outside the classroom. While some of us take only required math, others take the elective courses and prepare for jobs that require the use of this exacting skill.

MISS BESSIE HERRIN

By learning how to write and speak fluently one or several of the languages offered at Classen, tomorrow's international relations will progress in understanding and agreement.

With the aid of films, records, oral recitations, and reading lessons, the practical usage of alien tongues is brought before the student.

One teutonic language and three romance languages are taught here at Classen. They are Latin, French, Spanish, and German. These courses, like curricular English, contain both literature and grammar. The courses offer six semesters of French, four of German, and eight of Latin and Spanish.

MISS LUCILLE WILLOUGHBY

MISS LILIA PICKARD

HISTORY

MISS CLARA MEYER

Our history teachers play an important role in our daily scope of world problems both of yesterday and today. By conscientiously studying the trials and errors of those who have gone before, the youth of America can prepare themselves for the world of tomorrow

Courses that are offered in the History Department are American, World, English, Bible, International relations, Social Problems and Government

SCIENCE

Facts, the basis of Science, are taught to us by conscientious teachers. In the laboratories we learn Chemistry, Biology, Physics, and Geology, while in the "wild blue yonder" we study Aviation. All of these sciences enable us to be better prepared for the drama of life after graduation

MR. JOHN M. PADEN
Head of Department

MR. LEROY D. FORD

MR. CARL STAFFER

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

For those of our student body who have ambitions to become engineers, architects, airplane and automobile mechanics, draftsmen, or cabinet makers, courses are offered in which they can determine whether or not these are the jobs for which they are suited

The new Industrial Arts annex, on the west side of the building, is completely equipped to handle these courses

DIVERSIFIED OCCUPATIONS and DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

With "Earn while you learn" as their theme, these two departments offer a chance for students to obtain jobs, meet the public and gather experience which will enable them to be better business-men and women after their highschool education has been completed

HOME ECONOMICS

Among the many improvements which 1950-51 saw at Classen was the addition of facilities for the Home Economics department. The girls enrolled in these classes now have a "home away from home" in the kitchens, sewing and fitting rooms, and the living room. The living room is used by the foods classes for serving the meals they prepare, and for small teas and parties. It was furnished this year in the Chippendale period and is complete with lamps, pictures and other accessories.

Miss Vera Campbell is in charge of all clothing and Home Decoration classes, while Mrs. Edna Hedges teaches Foods, Child Guidance and Family Relations

MISS MILDRED HOLLAND

The Commerce Department of Classen gives adequate training for anyone entering the business field. There are opportunities for bookkeepers, stenographers, typists, and machine operators. Also, distributive education and diversified occupations are now offered.

To further aid students, there is a plan of securing jobs for them by Classen's faculty. They are not only prepared for their jobs, but given a chance to do the work for which they are trained.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

This is one of the best known departments at Classen. Under able coaching both boys' and girls' teams have won state-wide acclaim.

Not only playing the game, but playing it fairly, and on a high plane, is one of the principle teachings of the department. Classes in both team and individual sports are offered.

VOCAL AND INSTRUMENTAL MUSIC

The vocal music department under the direction of Mr. Merl Cornelius, and the instrumental music department led by Mr. Arthur Johnson have moved into new rooms this year. Both are spacious and have adjoining rooms for storing music, robes and other departmental equipment.

The Classen choir, always one of the finest of its kind, has presented many programs and made a fine showing at the Norman contests. The concert and marching bands have entertained us at assemblies and games and also taken honors at contests.

ART

Being the only Art teacher this year, Miss Mary Lamb Lewis has been under a terrific strain with all of the work which had to be done. She has done a wondrous job not only in art work but also in teaching two classes almost every hour during the day.

The department's responsibilities are to make floats for parades, stage props for Assemblies, posters for all occasions, and the art work in the Orbit.

MISS MARY LAMB LEWIS
Head of Department

DRIVER EDUCATION

Driver Education, under the direction of Mr. Robert Reid, is an elective course in which the student learns the rules of safe driving. At the completion of the course the student is allowed to take the driving test given by the Highway Department. A high percentage of Classen drivers have passed the test.

This is the first year Classen has had its own radio studio, which is open to vocational radio classes. It is open to advanced students in any high school in the city.

During the regular two hour course which very often keeps you busy for many hours after school, it teaches you not only how to handle yourself in front of a microphone but you are also shown what goes on in a control room. The radio class is under the supervision of the willing and helpful Mrs. Elaine Tucker. Our radio station's call letters are KOKHEM.

The ORBIT

The staff for the 1951 Orbit has really worked hard with one goal in mind—to produce the best annual yet and one which all Classen will appreciate. The class has worked hard but our book wouldn't have been complete without the willing and efficient aid of the Orbit Art class. The prize winning Orbits of the past few years have set our standards at a high mark.

The Classen A Capella choir has been recognized as one of the outstanding choral groups of the nation. In the many music contests it has entered, the choir has emerged consistently with top honors. During this school year they have performed at various civic functions, school assemblies and concerts.

CLASSEN BAND

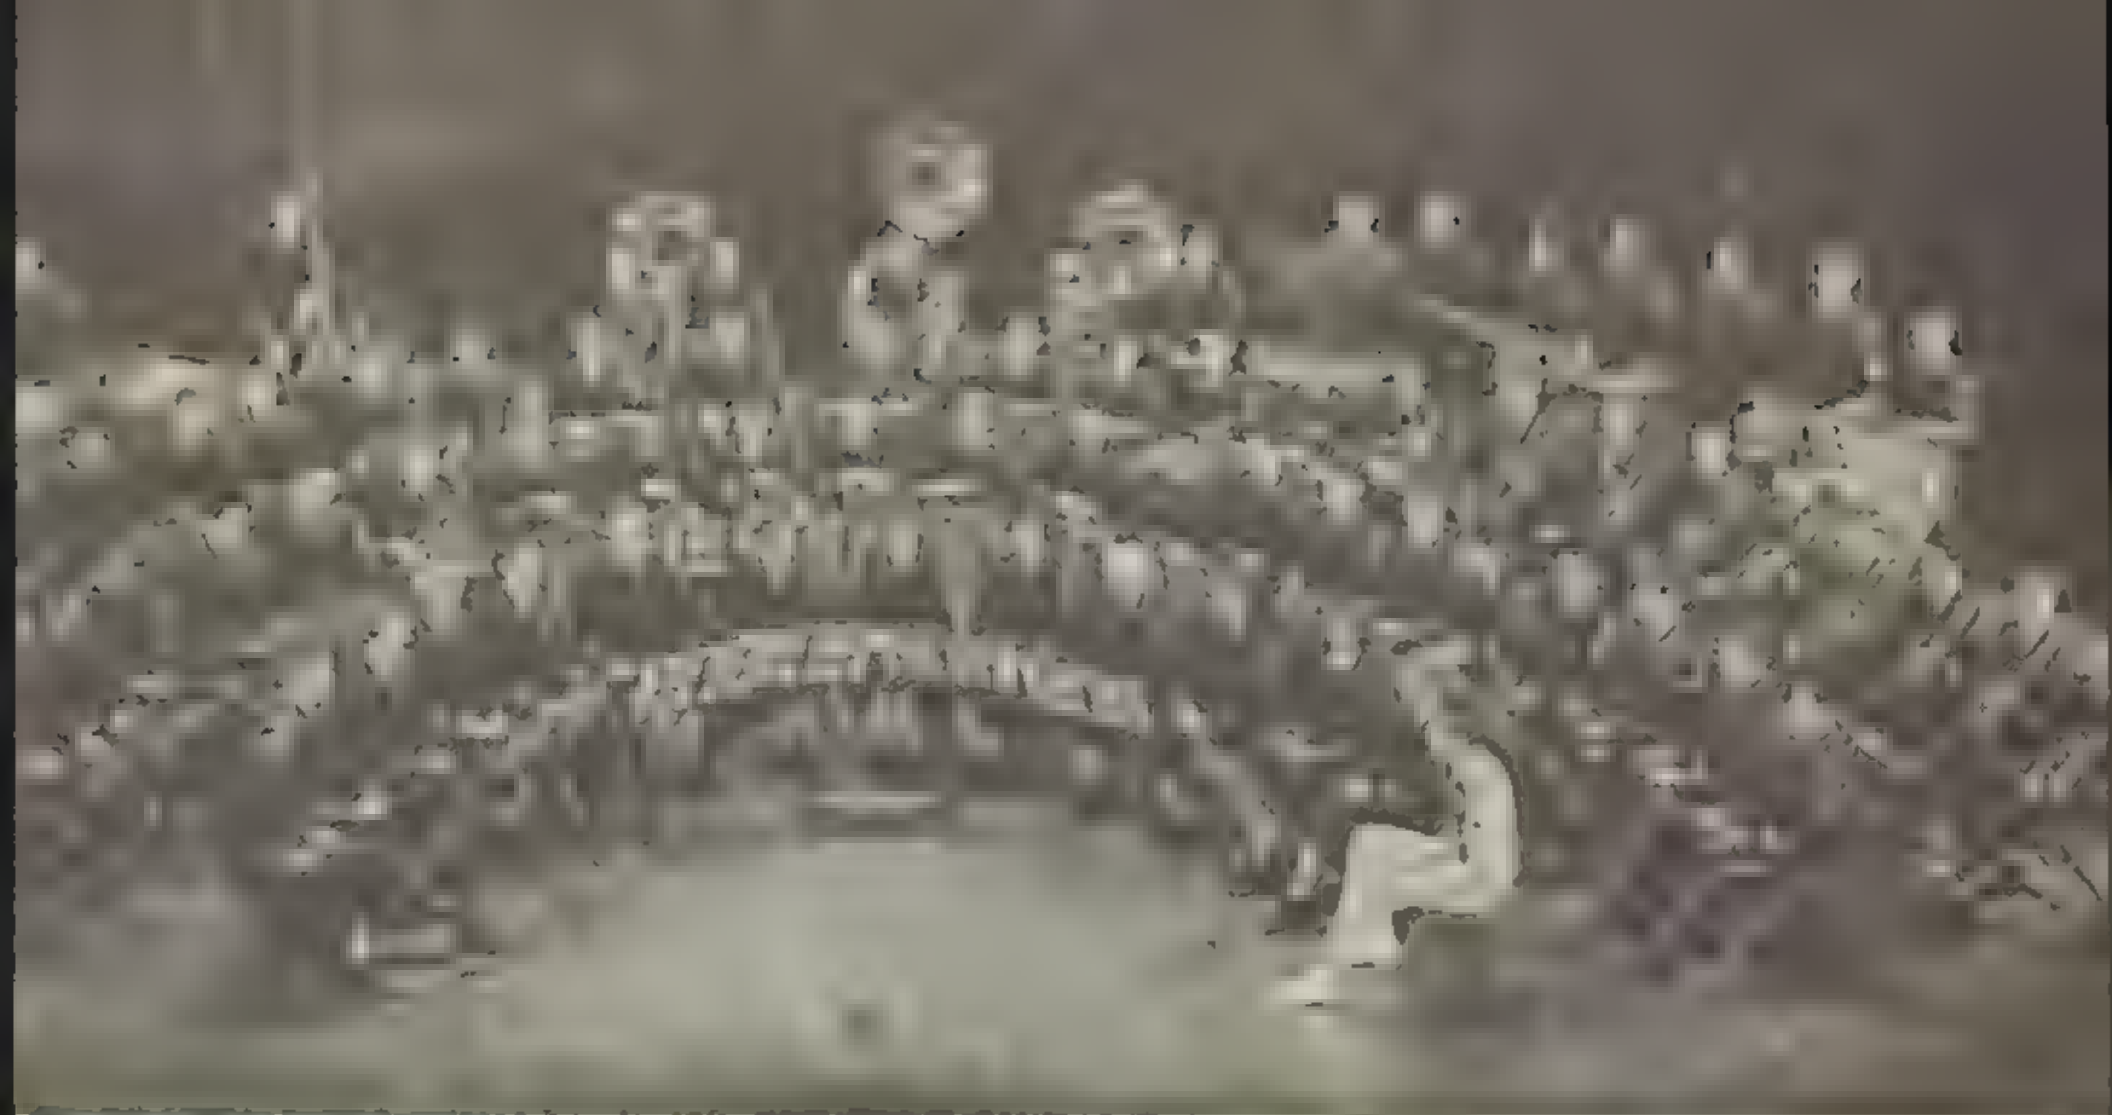

The Classen Band excels in every way. Each year many trophies are won by the concert band and the marching band. In order to become a member of the concert band a student must have unusual musical ability. The marching band displayed precision marching at the half time of all football games with some colorful stunts.

COMET FOOTBALL

The 1950 Classen High football team played a well rounded season this year, winning five games while losing four and tying two. Under the excellent coaching of Jim Conger, Bill Bynum and Rex Irwin, the Classen squad kept their high standing, never leaving second place in the city and district. The team had an outstanding backfield consisting of fullback Buddy Donley, right half Mike Harding, left half Ronnie Spencer and quarterback Tom Murphy. Yet the backfield could not have scored and run so well without the blocking and tackling of the faithful line. During the first of the season the line had great difficulty with injuries, Dick Pulliam, tackle, broke his leg. Maynie Greenberg, center, threw his shoulder out of place, and Otis Bealmer, fullback, had a knee operation, and was out the rest of the season.

One of Classen's most dashing Comets, known as "Bulldozer" Bud Donley made All-State. Donley, Ed Walker, and junior Tom Murphy placed on the first team in All City. Duane Jones and Carlos McAfee made the second team. All in all, the Classen team proved its ability and sportsmanship, even though they did not place as high as they hoped for.

First row: Spain, Clayton, Mines, Conner, Rose, Colby, Jack-

"A" SQUAD

Although the Comet's 16-10 record for the season is not too impressive, their playing was terrific, except for a few times when the boys just couldn't get that ball through the basket.

Classen's 5'10" guard, Bill Knox, was the Comet toast this year averaging about 15 points a game. Bill was chosen for the All State, All District, and All City teams.

Dan Brown, the young Classen sophomore forward, was one of the greatest assets to this year's team. He was averaging around 8 points per game. Bob Colwell, a returning letterman from last year, was maybe a little cold on shooting the first of the season but came through with flying colors a little after the season progressed. He was averaging something like 7 points a game by the end of the season.

In conference play the Comets tied for the City title and came in with a three-way tie for third in the Mid State Conference. Most of the games that the Comets lost in the season were largely decided in the last few minutes of play with only a couple of points difference.

The Comet's coach, Mr. Carroll Smelser did a great job this year in turning out such a good unseasoned team. Only one returning letterman was back from the starting five of the State Champs of '49-'50, and there were only two other returning lettermen from the last year's whole squad.

Next year the Comets should come up with a leading contender for the City, District, and State Crown.

There will be two returning on the starting five next year and in all eight boys will be back next year to put the team well in the running.

In the finals of the regionals, Central pulled one out of the basket with one second to go. They tied the ball game up and upended Classen in the overtime.

TRACK

Coach Rex Irwin and his outstanding track team won many honors for Classen this year. Though starting the season with only eight returning lettermen. Out of these there were only two seniors, Earl Michael Harding and Carlos McAfee. Clean sportsmanship and strong ambition are expected of each boy. This shows the reason for the fine track team of 1950 and 1951.

"Interest in this field is constantly on the increase," according to Miss Kathleen Owen, head of the department. Due to this increase two new sports have been added. They are bowling and golf. Other sports are swimming, fieldball, badminton, table tennis, tennis, softball, and volleyball.

City and district championships have been won by the fieldball, table tennis, and swimming teams.

For girls who are particularly interested in sports there are two girls' "O" clubs. One is for those lettering in team sports, the other is for individual sports. The purpose of both is to promote fellowship and sportsmanship among those who lettered.

They are sponsored by Mrs. Harriet Pulley and Miss Naomi Henricks.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Something important in the lives of all and never to be forgotten — the last year of high school with all its activities and great expectations — football basketball mixers, pep rallies, those frantic campaigns leadership and everything else that makes high school complete.

The strong ties that have bound the Class of '51 during the past three years have made them a friendly co-operative and active force in the school which makes Classen the loved and respected school that it is. The excellent team-work of this class has made it possible to produce leaders in student government, the Red Cross debate, radio journalism and in many other fields which Classen offers.

During the active, busy days of the school year, graduation seemed far away. Seniors poured over those tricky math problems, feverishly memorized English quotations, and sometimes greeted the morning sun, still composing their history themes. Then suddenly, everyone was trying on dignified gray caps and robes and a sensation of excitement swept through the upperclassmen. The seniors were proudly walking across the stage to receive their diplomas. The never-to-be-forgotten friends, teachers, and fun in this last year will always remain a bright memory.

Miss Lucille Willoughby, sponsor of the senior class, has always been a beloved friend and sincere advisor to each and every student of the class, should they need her council. Her influence was ever present in the three most wonderful years of our lives at Classen.

JUNIOR CLASS

The undergraduates of Classen High School are truly indebted to those who have gone before them. Today as their senior friends are going out into the world, they accept the torch of Classen, and realize that it is their duty to hold it high.

Classen High School does not think of the underclassmen just as those who will be back for another year, but they are regarded as potential leaders and included equally in school privileges and activities. All activities, assemblies, mixers, and tournaments are open to Juniors and Sophomores alike. And in being treated as young adults, they hold a higher regard for the school and their peers.

Miss Bernice Gordon, the Junior Sponsor, should be applauded by the school for outstanding work with the Junior class this year. Since she has been at Classen, most of her time has been devoted to either sponsoring the Junior or Senior class or working on various other activities with enthusiasm.

These Juniors inherit the traditions that the seniors of previous years have perpetuated. Among them are found all the qualities of leadership, scholarship, and service which have made Classen one of the foremost among high schools, and next year will be their chance to prove all this to us and to themselves. We know they can do it — so good luck, Juniors. You've a wonderful year ahead of you!

SOPHOMORE CLASS

ROY A. VALLETTI
Sponsor

The members of this year's sophomore class have already shown their sincere love for their school by the outstanding part they have taken in all school activities. We believe that this is one of the finest sophomore classes ever to come to Classen because of their sincere interest, they have unlimited possibilities for their next two years.

In the first few weeks a sophomore may feel that since he has not been here for such a time he may have been a little shy of the activities that are put on around Classen. But as the year is now coming to a close we are sure that his spirit now truly belongs to Classen. Although he was made to feel as one of the old members at first, he is really graduated in the sense now.

Under the guiding hand of Miss Retha Wave Hulet, the sophomores solve their problems. Whether it be Silas Marner or the rectangles of geometry, Miss Hulet is ever ready with advice and aid in planning their highschool careers.

We look to the class for many accomplishments and when the torch is handed to them, they will rise to the call and carry on with the same spirit and success as those who have gone before them.

S. A. S. C.

Cameron Deen brings out the welcome mat to convention delegates.

More than three hundred schools from fourteen states sent representatives to Classen, hosts to the Southern Association of Student Councils convention, held last fall. On October 18th through 21st about 1,000 Student Council delegates gathered here to make the rounds of meetings and entertainment planned by Classen with help from the other city highschools.

Jacque Orr, S.A.S.C. secretary, Mr. Duane Weinert and Miss Clara Meyer, student council sponsors directed the activities of the 15 student committees. There were forty discussion groups on student government and three general meetings in two days.

Joyce Pritchard appraises the artistry of Mike Whitaker in preparation for the convention

CONVENTION

Visiting delegates were honored at a western mixer in the Classen gym, Capitol Hill entertained at a barbecue, after which a square dance was held in Civic Center. Terminating the last meeting, a final banquet was held in the Zebra Room, at the Municipal Auditorium with dancing afterwards. The delegates, who did not return home by the weekend were treated to the O.U.-Kansas State football game in Norman

Classen students provided transportation, housing facilities and guidance for the visitors
